BEREAVEMENT

RESOURCES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE, PARENTS/CARERS AND PROFESSIONALS (CAMHS West)

Sadness or low mood following the loss of a loved one, or someone you know. May also be coupled with feelings of denial, guilt and relief. Grief is a healthy response to bereavement; it is part of the healing process

Low mood/sadness or other change in mood which is persisting and having an ongoing impact on a young person's ability to engage in daily activities. Might be evident in a child/young person isolating themselves from peers or friends over an extended period, eating less or overeating, having persistent difficulty sleeping or showing itself through anger.

Low mood or change in mood which is persistent despite other interventions/self help strategies and is having a significant impact upon a person's mental health which is impacting upon their ability to engage in daily activities. This may be seen in withdrawal from activities, feeling irritable and intolerant of others, tearful and feelings of hopelessness and helplessness. Physical symptoms may include disturbed sleep, aches and pains and lack of energy. There may be an impact on risk and young people might be experiencing thoughts of wanting to harm themselves.
